OUR MISSION

• to study and promote the highest standard of training, practice and patient care within the field of general practice throughout Europe;
• to defend the role of general practitioners/family physicians in the healthcare system;
• to promote the ethical, scientific, professional, social and economic interests of European GPs, and to secure their freedom of practice in the interest of their patients;
• to determine the united views of the members and to represent them through the appropriate channels to the relevant European authorities and international organisations;
• to work with other European medical groupings to strengthen the position and unanimity of the medical profession in Europe in order to maintain the highest possible standards of education, ethics and patient care.

GPS AS KEY ACTORS FOR PUBLIC HEALTH IN EU. THE CASE OF VACCINATION
ISABEL DE LA MATA, EU COMMISSION - Principal Adviser for public health and risk assessment DG SANTE
GPs are the best placed to take care of the whole aspects of health of individuals, families and societies. The example of vaccination will be presented as a life-course approach and the fundamental role of primary health care for it.

STRENGTHENING COLLABORATION BETWEEN EMA AND GENERAL PRACTITIONERS/ FAMILY PHYSICIANS
JUAN GARCIA BURGOS, EMA Head of Public Engagement Department
The presentation’s objectives are to highlight the importance of strengthening interaction between EMA and GPs and illustrate how this is progressing in order to: Help EMA gain a better understanding of how medicines are being used in real life and the potential impact of specific regulatory actions on patient care; Raise awareness amongst GPs/FPs on how they can inform regulatory discussions on the benefits and risk of medicines.

In 1967, the general practice associations of the then six Member States of the European Economic Community assembled in Paris to establish the European Union of General Practitioners (UEMO).

With this, general practice achieved a voice throughout the Community and, in time, this would prove the political voice of general practice, both of the European Union and of Europe as a whole. At that time, general medical practice had only begun to emerge as a new central discipline of the profession, and was far from recognised in Europe. The problems of general practice had only begun to be taken up for serious discussion.

Years would pass before a sub-committee on general practice was established in the Standing Committee of European Doctors (C), and when the first directives for mutual recognition of medical credentials were adopted in 1975, no real account was taken of general practice.

It would take another decade before the UEMO struggle to fill the gap would achieve its first major success - in 1986 - with the adoption of the European Directive, guaranteeing a minimum standard of training for general practitioners in Europe.

On the 21st January 2009, UEMO acquired legal personality. The organisation’s Deed of Incorporation as a non-profit under the Belgian Law was signed in Brussels and UEMO became officially known as L’Union Européenne des Médecins Omnipraticiens / Médecins de Famille, AISBL.

In 2017, we are celebrating our 50th Anniversary in Paris. Join the celebrations of the largest organisation of General Practitioner in Europe!
